Better Broadband, Better Lives

Many communities in Illinois are missing economic, educational, and other opportunities because they lack access to fast, affordable broadband internet service. Broadband is not a luxury; it is essential. Broadband enables:

broadband.

Agriculture—farmers sell

- Job creation—businesses grow by locating in areas with broadband.
- j
- Education—students do homework and take courses online.

- Healthcare—rural residents consult with doctors and specialists via internet video.
- and manage their crops, and monitor weather forecasts.
   Public safety—faster and more efficient fire and police

- Family—video and audio conference with friends and relatives in distant places.
- Energy—the "smart grid" improves reliability and provides savings.
- Government—broadband provides more accessible and transparent services to citizens.

The Partnership for a Connected Illinois (PCI) collects data about broadband availability and works with local communities in Illinois to make broadband available throughout the state. At PCI's website, broadbandillinois.org, you can find:

Service providers with internet availability in your area.

Community centers near you that may offer broadband access to the public (such as libraries and senior centers).

Maps, data, and research related to broadband coverage and demand.

Latest news and reports about broadband.

Stories about how broadband, or the lack of it, affects the lives of people like you. (Contribute your own story.)

Get involved

Broadband affects you and your community. You can help by contacting local officials, businesses, schools, and other institutions, or just by attending a meeting in your area.

How the Partnership for a Connected Illinois can help you get better broadband for your community

We can help you identify and organize local people and institutions who will benefit from better broadband, help build an organization to communicate with public and private parties, and offer advice based on successful efforts in other parts of Illinois.

Bringing better broadband to your community typically involves three steps:

Convening local interested parties

- Identify those who can benefit from getting new broadband access, current users who need faster speeds, and those who can supply and manage broadband systems (existing providers or newcomers).
- Pull together people who need to be involved, including those working in economic and job development, local government, education, healthcare, and business.

2 Connecting people to work together

- □ Form a local coalition.
- Facilitate meetings and share successes in other parts of Illinois, from communities like yours.
- Establish effective partnerships within the broader community.
- Draft a community plan with realizable technical and financing goals.

B Collaborating to achieve plan goals

- Learn about, and get access to, an array of financing options.
- Provide training and advice on broadband technology and implementation.
- Pool resources with other communities near you.

In the early days of ISBE's LincOn network, the LTCs played a major role in network deployment and maintenance. The ICN constituency is much broader in scope than LincOn and includes public and private colleges and universities, public libraries, and other local entities that provide services to Illinois citizens. With the creation of the ICN Regional Technology Centers (RTC), the LTCs can once again concentrate on assisting K12 districts and schools with their own internal networking and technology deployment. Other services that the LTCs have historically provided such as email and web space will still be provided by the LTCs or the ROE offices that administer them. Only the LincOn or ICN networking backbone functions are being moved to the RTCs. Email and web hosting services will continue to be provided by either the LTC or the ROE offices that administer them.

A public school contacts their RTC to report an Internet access problem, the RTC will determine if the network problem is part of the backbone or internal to the school's network. If it is internal to the school, the LTC for that school should be contacted concerning the problem.

How It Works

Governor Pat Quinn is launching a competition that will award up to $4,000,000 in prize funding to the most promising ultra high-speed broadband deployment projects in Illinois as part of the comprehensive, multi-year Illinois Jobs Now! economic development program.

...Illinois is also a land of technology. We're in the process of laying 4,100 miles of new broadband fiber optic cable to light up 5,000 of our schools, libraries, businesses and hospitals with world-class information networks.

...Today, I'm also announcing a $6 million dollar statewide competition to build ultra-high speed broadband in neighborhoods across Illinois.

Through this challenge, we want our neighborhoods to become Gigabit communities with Internet connections more than 100 times faster than today!

Our goal is to build smart communities that will foster the job engines of the future...

- Governor Quinn's 2012 State of the State Address

Open to any private or public organization, the contest will result in seed funding awards to build or expand world-class broadband networks in Illinois. Each proposal should outline a viable plan to connect at least 1,000 end users to an ultra high-speed broadband network.

The best proposals will outline how completing ultra-high speed network construction by the end of 2013 will, among other objectives:

- · Improve employment opportunities;
- Enhance economic development through the development of "smart communities" ;
- Bring Illinois closer to our goal of increasing the proportion of residents with high-quality degrees and credentials to 60 percent by the year 2025;
- · Connect health care professionals with their patients;
- Position Illinois' universities to continue to lead the nation in research, technology and innovation.

This represents another element in Governor Quinn's effort to accelerate innovation and job growth in Illinois. Entrants will be encouraged to develop creative proposals that maximize total project investment and community benefits. Proposals that can serve as proofs-of-concept with a broader impact in Illinois will receive the highest consideration.

How Can You Engage the Free Services of Broadband Illinois

Log onto the web site and look around. www.broadbandillinois.org

Post web site in your newsletters and web pages. Tell people that they can go to this site to see potential internet providers, find public internet labs, or to email us about a lack of Internet service availability.

Send us needs within your community so we can log them and try to help find providers. info@broadbandillinois.org

Use our experts, the maps on the web site, and the information about area Internet providers when doing strategic planning or new water lines so you can attempt to get broadband into unserved and underserved areas.

Contact us when you need to get it to an industrial park so that we can see how we can get providers together to help. Consider broadband when grant planning for water lines and sewer.

Let people know that they can have us do presentations on the project and how we can help. This might be to Chambers, School Boards, Rotaries, etc.

Distribute Broadband Illinois web site link to students so that parents learn how to find Internet Access. And, feel free to invite us to help out with information for Open Houses and School Registration.

Send us a success story and picture from your community and we will post on web site

Let us know if there are any broadband advocates in your county that we can help.

Broadband Research for the State of Illinois

The Partnership for a Connected Illinois (PCI) is undertaking critical research on behalf of the State of Illinois for the purpose of identifying the current uses of the Internet and the benefits obtained by households, businesses, community institutions, and other organizations across the state. We are collecting information through online surveys that explore what Internet services are being used, how they are used, what motivates uses of the Internet, and barriers to using the Internet. The survey is available at www.broadbandillinois.org.

The results of this research can be made available on request to communities who request it.

Why this is important

Affordable access to broadband services is increasingly essential for participating in the 21st century economy, yet many communities in Illinois continue to be unserved or under-served. A number of initiatives are under way by the State of Illinois to address this shortfall, including the Gigabit Community Challenge and Eliminate the Digital Divide. These programs aim to stimulate and support investments that increase the availability of broadband services to communities and population segments where broadband is lacking.

How you can benefit

- Direct benefit to communities and other organizations that have an interest in expanding the availability of broadband services for their constituents.
- Deeper insights into getting the most benefit of increased adoption & broadband use.
- Help stakeholders that are in the process of applying for the aforementioned grants.
- The interest & demand for broadband can be informed by the level of survey participation by your constituent groups as well

What you can do

Participation is greatly enhanced by local promotion and awareness-raising within your community or constituency. We encourage all who have a stake in improving the availability of affordable broadband services to reach out to their constituents through a combination of:

• Direct outreach to email lists

- Newsletter articles
- Announcements in public meetings
- Public announcement on web sites
- Posters in public Internet locations

PCI will be pleased to provide additional information, outreach assistance, and survey results. For more information please contact Clayton Black at eteams@broadbandillinois.org.

Finding Internet Service

Dear Parents and Community Members,

Broadband Illinois, also known as Partnership for a Connected Illinois, is a grant funded non-profit organization working to help people and businesses find good access to the Internet in Illinois. We do not charge for services.

If you need access, you can go to a friend's house or the library and type in www.broadbandillinois.org. Then type your address in the white box. It should pull up possible Internet Providers in your area. Use your yellow pages or search the Internet to find a phone number for the provider to confirm if there is service for your home. If you have problems or can't find service, feel free to call 217-886-4553 or email us at eteams@broadbandillinois.org

You will need to look at several things when considering Internet service:

- What works for your neighbors
- Availability
- Cost
- Speed (Too slow can cause problems with movies, gaming, pulling up pages quickly, etc. But, at some speed, you do not need more speed because increasing it will not make it appear any faster instant is instant. Try online videos and gaming to check speed; and get two users on at once if possible.)

Download limits (Can be very restrictive if you want to watch movies or download large files)
